

This coming Sunday, we celebrate the 5th Sunday in Ordinary Time. Gospels from Luke 5:1-11 This coming Sunday there are four theological ideas that are woven through the readings: worship, sin, grace, and ministry. Worship is the setting for our first reading from Isaiah 6:1-2a,3-8. The Second is Sin: God's glory is so powerful that it makes clear our own lack of holiness, our sinfulness. Isaiah cries out that he is a sinful man living among sinful men. Grace: Sin may lead us to feeling hopeless, but as Paul writes elsewhere, where there is sin there is also grace. See Romans 5:20,6:14. Ministry: Finally, we hear of ministry. After being purified, Isaiah goes back to the sinful people to preach repentance and promise. Paul writes of the continuation of Jesus' mission through the preaching of the apostles and explains how he shares in that ministry under God's grace. Prayer: Thank you, God, for reminding us that we are sinners who need you. Thank you also for not leaving us in our sin but instead sending your Son and offering your grace to us. Thank you for using us in your mission, and let us always be led by you. In your name we pray...Amen
